Shaheed - Holy Martyr
'Shaheed', a disturbing and thought-provoking documentary, part of CNN International's 'Perspectives' strand, goes into the mind of suicide bombers to find out why young men, at the dawn of their lives, are able and ready to make the ultimate sacrifice.
Airs: Fri 1 May at 21.00 (Rpted: Sun 3 May at 19.00)

The suicide bomber has become one of the most powerful weapons in the armoury of the Muslim militants, as they battle with their sworn enemy Israel. Hamas alone claims to have an arsenal of more than 100 human bombs, known as Shaheed, or holy martyr, ready at any one time. The bombers have made every checkpoint and bus ride a possible death trap; these young men have blown many members of the Israeli military and ordinary civilians apart.

In Israel, suicide bombers have become the spearhead of a campaign of psychological warfare against the Israeli people. The bombers strike without warning, anytime and anywhere with terrifying results. But not all suicide bombers die; some now face the prospect of life behind bars after their deadly packages failed to explode.

Directed by Dan Setton, 'Shaheed' uses exclusive interviews with bomb makers and failed bombers from inside prisons, together with rare footage of the recruitment process, to uncover the motivation and justification behind this most frightening of weapons. Bombers, activists and the families of those connected to the Shaheed, talk openly about their lives.

Recruited by Hamas, just a few months after getting married, Mahmud Sharif was badly injured, when only the detonator of his bomb exploded. He explains what went through his mind on the morning of his planned attack:

"I woke up in the morning, quite naturally, knowing this would be the last day of my life. I washed and went to the mosque and prayed, knowing it would be my last prayer. I visited my neighbourhood as if I was saying goodbye. I went back home and sat with my mother and my wife and I was quite normal, you would not know anything from my face or myself. I was quite normal, one who is going to be a martyr should be or else you would expose yourself."

"Half an hour later the bag arrived and I carried it around with me from the start. I got into the car knowing it would be the last car I would be in, that this will be the last human I will see and that this will be the last breath I will take. That is what I was thinking, the end. I am going to meet the Lord of the Universe; I will meet the prophets, the pious people, my brother, my friends."

"The Shaheed has to have motivation to become a martyr; he has to have faith. It is an ideological motivation, religious and also patriotic, because this kind of job requires a strong will and persistence. You see, they lead a normal life but when the zero hour comes they strike. You will not see anything special in the martyr's eyes or in his behaviour but inside it is a strong drive, an internal motivation. When the time comes, he acts."
